furniture that inspires

W.J. White Limited

Passion, pride and craftsmanship are the key elements of all our ranges

Established in 1931, by then cabinet-maker William John White, WJ. White have been making quality workplace furniture ever since. With a reputation for applying great skill and craftsmanship to everything produced, we focus heavily on Customer Satisfaction.

Modern-day technology newly installed in our factory has brought with it all the benefits of method and efficiency whilst maintaining all our craft skills – the essential heart of everything we do. And as markets change and new working procedures are introduced, workplace furniture designs have evolved too. WJ. White's Concept Drawing Team is constantly developing new unique products enhanced by new materials and new finishes.

WJ. White have three clearly defined brands: Congress - a range of exceptional wood-veneer furniture, Crome - developed to manage all power and data requirements, and Custom Build - bespoke designs to meet specific requirements in both design and function. These three ranges utilise only the finest veneers and finishes and enable us to meet, and in many cases far exceed, your expectations of business furniture. Be it meeting room, conference or boardroom, open-plan workspace or cellular office, WJ. White are your office furniture specialist.

We understand that you want to be surrounded by beautiful, stylish furniture, crafted using the highest quality materials and finishes. We also understand that in the modern workplace, a desk needs to integrate data and cable management solutions for IT applications. Inset panels provide power and data sockets with cables neatly and discreetly hidden from view. Filing drawers, cupboards and shelving organise your files and equipment. Desking and storage that does what you want, when you want.

The finish is just as important as function and design. It gives the furniture its own personality

Clean lines, beautiful veneers and high quality timbers - W.J. White office furniture makes a design statement - a talking point for employees and customers alike. Furnish your entire workplace with different furniture in the same choice of veneer, or choose different finishes to suit different areas. Perhaps American Black Walnut for the Director's Office and Oak for a light and airy Meeting Room. One thing is sure, choosing W.J. White furniture for your workplace says all the right things about your business.

Congress style timber framed screens, with triple rail support for monitor arm and back painted glass detail, complement the American Black Walnut desk and return.

Custom built furniture that is as unique as the person using it

Imagine your perfect office space. A seamless blend of tradition and technology, from carefully selected veneers to laser-engineered table bases? What shape of desk would you choose? Are you partial to Black Ash or Walnut? Modern or Traditional in style? Perhaps a bookcase to store your books and directories? Or maybe a mobile pedestal with filing drawers? Cable management to allow your network to be safely and discreetly connected?

W.J.White can design and manufacture the ideal solution – custom built furniture that meets all of your requirements and surpasses your expectations.

The sophisticated solution for the smart office

It's easy to be organised with a W.J. White workwall – everything you need is at your fingertips.

This versatile piece of furniture allows you to work in comfort, while extensive storage options mean that whatever your need is, it's exactly where you need it! Mobile pedestals can be incorporated for added flexibility. All desks can feature cable management solutions to allow IT equipment to be safely and discreetly connected. With a choice of 16 beautiful veneers to choose from, a workwall can be matched to any existing furniture or be used to create a striking contrast.

Versatility - display your achievements or discreetly store your files behind sliding doors – why not have both?

Precision engineering with a craftsman's finish, designed and built to your specifications. The real beauty of a workwall is its flexibility. Create a striking display, allow for filing facilities and consider storage options. The possibilities are endless and the result is impressive when you utilise W.J. White's knowledge and experience.
